Supercharge Your Skills with Summer Training

Summer is a time of vacations and a little extra leisure for many. Here's an idea: Invest some of your time in yourself to supercharge your skills. By dedicating just a few minutes a day or a week to learning, you can gain new skills and brush up on current skills. Lifetime learning is a satisfying and worthwhile pursuit that can yield growth and development both on the job and off. ESI MAP offers numerous ways to help:

- Personal & Professional Development Trainings – Explore thousands of free online personal & professional development trainings in multiple user-friendly formats on work skills, wellness, technology, safety, and more. Try micro-learning in short bursts of 10 minutes or less, or dive deeper on key topics in eLearning of 30+ minutes. (Log in and click on the Training Center tile)
- Career & Education Resource Center – Find links to resources for Career Exploration and Planning; Finding the Right College; Financial Aid and Scholarships; and

Vocational, Military and Other Career Resources. (Log in to the Resource Centers)

4 Reasons to Support Local Farmers

A healthy diet should include at least five portions of fruit and vegetables daily. Up your intake this summer starting with National Farmers Market Week from August 6 to 12. Find markets near you through Local Harvest Farmers Markets and the National Farmers Market Directory or research nearby farms to plan a family day trip. Some farms have “pick your own” fields, barnyard petting zoos for kids, and other fun summer activities.

Here's why you should shop at local farms and farmers markets:

- Local fruits and vegetables are at peak freshness and flavor in the summer and fall! Plus, just-picked produce contains maximum nutrients and vitamins.

Quick Tips for Back-to-School Prep!

Get in the routine for good sleep by starting a week or two before school begins. Pediatricians say that young children should get 10-12 hours sleep a night and teens, 8-10 hours. Don't let them take phones or laptops to bed!

- Talk to your children about their feelings and expectations about the upcoming year. Address any anxiety or concerns your child may have about returning to school, providing reassurance and support.
- Involve your kids in planning and budgeting for clothes, school supplies, extracurricular activities, daily routines, and lunches. This will help them build excitement and a sense of ownership.
- Discuss safety matters. Plan out their travel route and routine. Talk about road safety, stranger danger, COVID-19 precautions, etc. See the NSCs Back to School Safety Checklist.
- Plan a daily chat once school starts to ask about school, what they did, what they liked, what they didn't like, if they have any concerns or worries, who their friends are.

ESI MAP's Featured August Webinar

Tapping Into Empathy – Each month, you can find a themed webinar and related resources at the top of the member site. Simply log in to www.UnionAP.com during August to explore the resources or take the webinar at your convenience.

- Get access to expert produce advice. Growers are experts in what they sell. Most are glad to share tips on storage and preparation of the produce they sell.
- Shopping local supports your community. Growers are small local businesses and job creators, so buying their produce offers tax and job benefits that boost your local community.
- It's a green thing to do. Supporting local farms keeps them viable and preserves natural green space in your community. Buying locally also takes much less of an environmental toll in fuel consumption, storage, and related environmental costs.
