Secrets to a Long, Happy Life

For the 30th year, September is designated as Healthy Aging Month, focusing on the positive aspects of growing older, and encouraging everyone to take personal responsibility for their health.

Here's a question related to aging: Do you think you'll live to be 100? Use the Life Expectancy Calculator to get an estimate. About one in every 5,000 people in the U.S. is a centenarian, someone who's 100+ years old, and about 85% are women. Experts say that about 25-30% of longevity can be attributed to genetics, but the rest relates to where you live, your diet, how much you exercise, and your support network of friends and family.

You can add years to your life expectancy by making improvements in diet and activity levels. Those who study centenarians offer these tips to improve your odds:

- Thomas Perls, director of BU's New England Centenarian Study, talks about why some people live to be 90+ years old. He offers five daily practices that can increase your longevity:
 1. Manage your stress levels.
 2. Get good sleep.

3. Eat healthy: Stick to a Mediterranean or Keto-type diet with whole foods, healthy fats, and lots of fruits and vegetables. Avoid excessive consumption of red meat.
4. Exercise often.
5. Refrain from smoking.

- Dan Buettner studied the diets of places in the world called "Blue Zones", where people have long life expectancies. He offers this advice:
 1. Eat a cup of beans, peas, or lentils every day.
 2. Eat a handful of nuts daily.
 3. Eat breakfast like a king, lunch like a prince and dinner like a pauper.
 4. Eat meals with your family.

Get Your Flu Shot Early!

Health officials recommend three vaccines this year: a flu shot; a new Covid shot targeting the XBB variant; and a respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) shot to protect seniors. Here's a summary of the recommendations to date:

- September and October are the best times for most people to get vaccinated.
- This season, all flu vaccines will target the four flu viruses that research indicates will be most common.
- The annual flu vaccine is recommended for everyone 6 months and older, but it is most important for people at higher risk of flu complications.

- Expect updated Covid vaccines targeting XBB, the dominant variant. Watch for full recommendations when the F.D.A. authorizes vaccines, expected in September.
- The C.D.C. recommends that people aged 60 and older sign up for the new R.S.V. shot after consulting with their doctors. It is not approved for Americans younger than 60.
- Track anticipated flu activity and flu forecasting using FluSight.
